“For a long time it had seemed to me that life was about to begin – real life. But there was always some obstacle in the way, something to be gotten through first, some unfinished business, time still to be served, a debt to be paid. Then life would begin. At last it dawned on me that these obstacles were life.”

~ Alfred D. Souza

Complete the sentence. You may think of many ways to answer this.

I would be happy if only . . .

Could you be happy without it?

Would it really make you happy if you got it?

Can you let go of the belief that you need __________ to be happy? After all, it is a limitation you put on your ability to be happy. It is a requirement you set up to prevent you from being happy today. Let go of the if only’s and the woulda, shoulda, coul’da.
